The Halls of Ivy

Oh, we love The Halls of Ivy, that surround us here today,
And we will not forget tho' we be far, far away.
To the hallow'd Halls of Ivy, every voice will bid farewell,
And shimmer off, in twilight like the old vesper bell.
One day a hush will fall,
The footsteps of us all will echo down the hall and disappear,
But as we sadly start our journeys far apart,
A part of every heart will linger here in the sacred Halls of Ivy,
Where we've lived and learned to know,
That thro' the years we'll see you in the sweet afterglow.

Oh, We Love the

"Oh, we love the Halls of Ivy."

Truly, "halls of ivy" are the halls of Emmerich Manual Training High School, where for many years Ivy Day has held significance for seniors and for the school. It is fitting that the 1953 Ivian, last annual to be published from this building, should have as its theme the story of our own "halls of ivy."

The welcoming front doors of Dame Manual have for 58 years been open to Manualites, youths and adults. Hers has sometimes been an almost 'round-the-clock vigil as adults from the community arrived for evening classes while the halls still echoed with day-school students' footsteps. Manualites all, they have taken pride in belonging to her family and have striven to uphold all that she has stood for through the years.

"And we will not forget . . ."

Her graduates, from every walk of life, have not forgotten her. Banded together in an alumni association which continually evidences strong loyalty to their alma mater, they come back each year to their halls of memory.

Halls of Ivy

"And we will not forget" is the vow, too, of the students of 1953 as they view the Manual landmarks long familiar to Southside residents: the sentinel towers and the bridge across Merrill Street to the auditorium.

"To the hallow'd Halls of Ivy, every voice will bid farewell . . ."

For many years each senior class has planted an ivy vine close to the red brick walls of Manual. The ivy has become a symbol of growth—the growth of Manual as an institution and of her students as individuals. The meaning of the symbol was expressed by former Principal E. Kemper McComb as "the growth which can be controlled by the individual himself; growth in personality, growth in spirit, growth in love of reading, growth in love of music, growth in love of art—in short, growth in all the finer things of life that make for individual beauty and attractiveness, happiness and helpfulness."

This year has been a time of growth for Manualites in a wide range of events here at 501 South Meridian Street as well as for the new, modern school on Pleasant Run Parkway at Madison Avenue. In this book are recorded those events.

That Surround Us Here Today

"Up with the sun and down with the sun" has guided Manualites inside the Halls of Ivy each day. Memories will linger within these halls where students, teachers, and alumni have found friendship and knowledge—shared joys and sorrows.

Many Manual traditions will always be associated with the red brick building at 501 South Meridian Street. The wide front doors have always welcomed students and friends to the school. The main hall just inside these doors is lined with contest plaques, framed poems, and blueprints of the building. Here students have always gathered just before school, and teachers have congregated at the close of the day. Watching over the Manual Tribe for many years, the Grandfather clock in the main hall just outside the bookstore has kept its vigil. Although unnoticed in the everyday rush, the clock has faithfully ticked away the minutes in the Halls of Ivy.

Shop students will remember the white brick hall leading to the shop and band rooms. Trophy cases have decorated the Halls of Ivy as Manual through the years has taken her share of athletic and academic honors and awards. Many Manualites have seen their work displayed in the second floor showcases . . . have stood and looked down the long, arched halls . . . have noted the designs made by sunlight shining through the patterned wrought iron of the stairways . . . or wondered what mysteries were hidden in the towers above the spiral stairways rising from the third floor.

Political Bandwagon Rolls Up

Politics influenced the year's activities in Manual as well as Washington, D. C., as Manualites leaped on the bandwagon to elect first a Jamboree Queen then Student Affairs Board members, class officers, contestants for Clem and Corabelle, George and Martha, Dotty and Dan, and the May Queen.

"It is time for a change!" students agreed when they held their mock election and voted for candidates from the three major parties in the 1952 national election. Soon after Manualites showed that they favored candidate Eisenhower, the nation joined with them in their decision. In Tepee Town a strong opponent to the Eisenhower forces was candidate "Pogo."

During the first semester a sway-backed little guy sprouting wings and a halo appeared in an auditorium program to ask Manualites to improve lunchroom conditions. This little fellow told students, "Let the Manual Spirit move you." To help correct cafeteria crowding, another lunch period was added, giving Manual four lunch periods a day.

Campaigns, Elections Highlight Year

Dads saved themselves an advance on Junior's allowance when they sponsored the free Hard Times Halloween Dance in cooperation with the music department. Television programs shared the spotlight with dancing, playing cards, and the latest chatter. Officers for the Dads Club for the 1952-53 year were Mr. Ted Bennett, president; Mr. Rex Fox, vice-president; Mr. Robert Cain, secretary-treasurer; and Mr. Noble Poole, recording secretary.

Halloween costumes received another work-out at the Mardi Gras, sponsored by the Mask and Wig Club.

Students in Miss Dorothy Forsyth's English class (top) enter the library to vote in the mock election sponsored by the history department. Manualites favored the Republican ticket for three of the four offices. Officials at the election were students in United States problems and government classes. Pictured here are Webster Brewer and Patricia Maddock, clerks.

Members of the senior choir became gold miners in November as the organization sponsored the operetta "The Golden Trail," set in the days when cowboys were real and not television heroes. Leads were played by Phyllis Cox, David Stahl, Suann Luessow, Carolyn Link, Shirley Burks, Jim Wessel, Don Durrett, and Robert Koepper.

Poems and prose by English III students and songs by the Girls Glee Club highlighted the annual Thanksgiving Day program.

Mary Ellen Craig, Bill Kirkman, Don Durrett, Pat Rosebrock, Nancy Downing, and Joy Seiler talk around the coke bar at the Mask and Wig Club's annual masquerade dance, the Mardi Gras. Dance bands from Broad Ripple and Manual high schools played, and prizes were given for the best costumes.

Christmas, Birthday Activities

Businessmen returned to school for a day during Education Week to see how future citizens are being trained to take part in the business world. Turn about became fair play when teachers visited industries for a better understanding of the work for which young people are preparing. The same week parents visited the school for the annual P-TA Open House to see student demonstrations.

A new spring outfit came early for the corners of Madison and Merrill streets when long-needed stop-lights were installed to add flashing color as well as safety for pedestrians and motorists.

To the delight of all Manualites Santa Claus paid them a visit during the Christmas auditorium program. A Human Christmas Tree, formed by members of the Girls Glee Club,

Old man Winter couldn't discourage fun-loving Tribesters from donning season finery for the music department's Snow Whirl, and after the holidays mid-year blues were dispelled by the Hasta La Vista dance, sponsored by Spanish students.

Emily Post would have been proud of students of Miss Theo Parr's health class and Mrs. Pauline Stark's social living class, who practiced proper etiquette at smorgasbord dinners.

They were not keys to the city, but gold keys won by Manual students who placed in the Indiana Regional Scholastic Art Awards Contest meant much to the 13 proud student artists.

highlighted the program, while Joan and Lou Ellen Crow, Roberta Cain, and members of the Ensemble performed specialty acts.

Give Tepee Town Holiday Air

Quiz 'Em Team members downed three adversaries—Ben Davis, St. John's Academy, and Warren Central—and lost to Tudor Hall in time to be able to concentrate their newspaper reading exclusively on basketball during Hoosier Hysteria time.

Manual motorists, along with other city high school drivers, participated in the safe-driving contest. The school with the fewest accidents during the contest period will receive a trophy.

Reviewing the happenings of the last fifty years, young and older warriors of the Tribe celebrated the fifty-eighth birthday of Tepee Town. "Down Memory Lane" was the theme for the in-school birthday celebration, with music by the Girls Glee Club and the Ensemble. A girls' quartet, a boys' quartet, and a duet by Suann Luessow and David Stahl highlighted the program.

Facts and figures learned during the past four years were needed when seniors wishing to attend college took three-hour college entrance tests.

At the alumni birthday dinner former Principal E. H. Kemper McComb enjoyed a reunion with teachers who had served under his leadership (top right).

Mr. Grier Shotwell, president of the Board of School Commissioners; Mr. Ray Brandes, school board member; Mr. McComb; Mr. C. Edgar Stahl, principal; and Mrs. Dale DaVee, school board member, were present at the alumni celebration (bottom left).

Tribesmen Look to Future

Students in Mr. Douglas Conrod's senior dramatics and radio speech classes and Mrs. Vivian Siener's senior speech class traveled to Terre Haute to participate in the Indiana Forensic Association Contest. Contestants were Dolores Elsea, Kathleen Callon, Webster Brewer, Bill Kirkman, Patricia Tollan, Robert Koepfer, Joy Seiler, and Judy Rodman.

Senior Rosalyn Roembke represented Manual in the Good Citizen Contest, sponsored by the Daughters of the American Revolution.

Most Manualites won a clean bill of health in the annual hearing test and tuberculosis X-ray programs though many a Redskin took to his bed for the Battle of the Bug—flu, they called it.

Majorettes as well as other music groups placed in the all-state music festival. Science students gave two whole Saturdays exclusively to larnin', traveling in the early fall to Turkey Run State Park and later to Chicago for a tour of museums.

Officers for the Parent-Teacher Association during the 1952-53 year were Mr. Leslie Hall, president; Mr. Louis Weiland, first vice-president; Mrs. James Weber, second vice-president; Mrs. Paul Ritter, corresponding secretary; Miss Ruth Allen, recording secretary; Mr. Guy W. Trickey, treasurer; and Mrs. Elmer Roembke, historian.

On College Day, Careers Day

College-conscious students heard Dr. I. Lynd Esch, president of Indiana Central College, speak at an auditorium on College Day. Dr. Harland White, Purdue University; Mr. Clum Bucher, Indiana University; Miss Jane Lewis, Butler University; and Mr. Lloyd Reddick, Indiana Central College, offered guidance to seniors in separate conferences.

Manualites had the chance to get first-hand information about their various vocational choices from experts in each field on Careers Day. Mr. Paul Pitz, personnel director of the American States Insurance Company, spoke in an all-school auditorium. Successful business men and women led study groups.

Colorful spring fashions and a variety of activities

Mr. Kenneth Smartz, Charles Monroe, Shirley Rouse, and Mr. C. Edgar Stahl, principal, discussed plans for College Day (top left).

were featured at the annual Spring Fiesta, sponsored by the P-TA. "April's a Circus" was the theme for the style show by a local department store. Proceeds from the Fiesta will be used for band uniforms, athletic equipment, and a scholarship fund.

Other activities ranged from feverish campaigning for a Fiesta king and queen and the staccato chatter of the auctioneer to the sale of home-baked pastries and the wares of the country store.

As the Ivian went to press, Manualites were looking forward to coronations—of Queen Elizabeth, their own May Queen, king and queen of the Fiesta—and the year's final election: Student Affairs Board members for next year.

Talented Manualites Entertain

While the "Miss Brooks" radio program was seeking the most attractive teacher, Manualites were seeking the teacher most willing to sponsor a Vaudeville act.

The 1953 Vaudeville was widely acclaimed as the best for many years. Miss Margaret Eastridge, Miss Roberta Waughtell, and Mr. James McDaniel, judges, chose Suann Luessow as best girl performer, Charles Monroe as best boy performer, and "See America First" as the best act.

"The Birth of the Blues," Act I, featured a chorus of Glee Club girls. A blue net drop set off the singers' pastel formal gowns and carried out the blues theme.

Kathleen Ragle danced to "The Birth of the Blues," while Bruce Stellhorn played the accordion. Roberta Cain danced to "Blue Tango." Sue Trinkle performed a ballet.

The "good old days" was the theme of "Grandma's Escapades," Act II. Grandma, Carol Kelly, told her grand-daughter, Ruth Jenkins, what she did when she was young. Ronnie Kottkamp and Carolyn Marsh sang "Daisy, Daisy." A barber shop trio was composed of Dallas Gritton, George Gritton, and Bill Preston. A highlight of the act was the comic dance routine by Al Helms and Madonna Chilton.

Centered around college life, the act "On the College Campus" featured the bookworm, Joanne Wilcher, who had a crush on football hero Phil Willsey. Charles Monroe took lessons from Harry Shaner, Don Smith, and Willsey on how to become a ladies' man and won for his performance the award for the best boy actor. Revay Haggard and the entire cast did the "Varsity Drag."

Walter Clark, train conductor, urged everyone to "See America First" in the prize-winning final act. Ronnie Burk sang "Bye, Bye Baby" to his girl friend, who was leaving on a vacation trip. In the New Orleans scene Joy Seiler sang "Basin Street." Suann Luessow, judged best girl performer, sang "When I Marry Mr. Snow," and Jane Clark, a snowman, danced to "Frosty the Snowman" in a wintery Vermont scene.

Intermission acts were performed by Lois Strong, accordionist; a drum ensemble, with Eddie Clark, Larry Baker, Jack Hess, Tom Whitney, and David Englert; and a saxophone quartet, Rolland Chastain, Carl Hager, Clifford Perry, and Bill Breedlove.

Faculty sponsors for Vaudeville acts were Miss Freda Hart and Mr. E. Edward Green, Act I; Miss Nancy Hendricks and Mr. Robert Buckley, Act II; Mr. William Glickert and Mr. John Patten, Act III; and Miss Helen Negley and Mr. Wayne Kincaid, Act IV.

We Heard in the Halls of Ivy . . .

As a struggling little ivy vine makes its way toward the top of the wall, so does a freshman seek the top in his climb toward his goals in education. "Oh, to be a senior and to graduate in June!" says the underclassman, while the senior silently rejoins, "Oh, to begin again and go to the new school!"

With construction of the new Manual progressing each day, underclassmen dreamed of the future in a new school while seniors remembered their adventures in learning during these past four years.

Inside the Tepee approximately 2,000 Manualites—seniors, juniors, sophomores, freshmen, and eighth graders—went their way each day. The new eighth graders, nicknamed "junior papooses," joined the Tribe in September to become a school within a school. Participating in the many all-school activities is a good way to get acquainted, underclassmen found out, while seniors and juniors enjoyed their own class organizations and projects.

The Footsteps of Us All...

After waiting for the newly installed stop lights to say "Go," Herbert Pasch and Minnie Yager cross Union Street.

Seniors' Footsteps Echoed

Time passes quickly when a senior plays the last act of his school production. The curtain falls before he realizes that the play is over and he is ready to start on a new role, but the memories stay with him through life.

As graduation draws closer, each day is filled with excitement and regret, with the knowledge that life as a senior at Manual is nearly done. The long years of waiting for that once-in-a-lifetime moment are climaxed when, clad in cap and gown, the senior receives the key to the adult world—his diploma.

Senior sponsors this year are Mr. Kenneth M. Smartz, Mrs. Vivian Siener, Mrs. Coral Black, Mr. Otto Kuehrmann, Miss Helen Tipton, and Mr. Volney

"You Can't Take It With You" was selected for the '53 senior class play. Directing the production, Mr. Douglas Conrod (left) was assisted by Dolores Tracy, student director. The play, a story of a rather eccentric family and its problems, was given May 16.

Reading parts for the play took a bit of acting by (top right) Webster Brewer, Rosemary Van Jelgerhuis, Charles

Top scholars of the class are Rosalyn Roembke, valedictorian, and Kathleen Callon, salutatorian.

The class gift is a bronze plaque, with the names of the architects, designers, and Board of School Commissioners, which will be mounted at the entrance of the new building. The plaque will also read that it is a gift of the Class of '53.

Senior activities included Ivy Day, College Day, and Class Day.

Monroe, Carole Dee Knapp, Robert Koepper, and Robert Lyon.

At work behind the scenes are the members of the production committee, Barbara Lockhart, Kathleen Callon, Lillian Meister, Rosemary Van Jelgerhuis, Patricia Borrer, Shirley Rouse, Tressie Howe, and Marilyn Andrews (lower right) talk over plans for the play with Dolores Tracy.

Across the Manual Stage

Cupid has family troubles in the senior class play, but nothing can keep young lovers apart, as Shirley Burks and Carl Hager (top left) soon prove.

Hopes for a dancing career keep Joan Crow on her toes, while her play husband, Walter Clark (top right), finds printer's ink in his blood.

There is a little bit of actor in everyone, and senior cast members had a chance to take their talent out of hiding for the class play.

"You Can't Take It with You" is the story of a haphazard family which makes life a big joke.

Dignified Carole Dee Knapp and Edwin Jenkins, parents of the prospective bridegroom (lower left), find it hard to keep up with the antics of the Sycamore family.

Life is one big merry-go-round for Grandpa Vanderhoff and Penny Sycamore, who believe in having fun while they can. The parts are played by Robert Koepper and Judy Rodman (lower left).

Cast members were Joan Crow, Judy Rodman, Robert Koepper, Robert Lyon, Shirley Burks, Carl Hager, Clyde Foster, Joan Lasley, Walter Clark, Webster Brewer, Lowell Harris, Edwin Jenkins, Carole Dee Knapp, and Suann Luessow. Mr. Douglas Conrod directed the production.

Graduation requirements incomplete.

It has a long way to grow before it reaches its big brothers, but the ivy gets a good start with the help of Charles Monroe, class president, and Rosalyn Roembke, secretary, of the graduating class of '53. Members of the class watched and wished it a long lifetime.

Seniors Treasure Memories

The armband for the Class of '53 was designed by Dick DeHoney, senior. Class colors were maroon and white; the motto, "Onward Ever, Backward Never."

After four years, seniors become familiar to other Manualites, and every senior activity or recognition

Country folk-dancing charmed Manualites into the school cafeteria this year for the Ivian Square Dance. The thrones, surrounded by corn stalks and pumpkins, were occupied by Clem and Corabelle. The winning couple, Barbara Lockhart and Carl Hager (top left), were crowned with straw hats.

Roaming the sports floor, Indian mascot Joan Crow urges her team to scalp its opponents. Miss Crow (top right) who becomes one more memoir to be tucked away and treasured.

Student Affairs Board President Robert Koepper was assisted by fellow seniors Jack Miller, vice-president; Joan Crow, secretary; and Judy Rodman, Barbara Lockhart, and Jim Beatty, board members.

Candidates for the Fiesta Popularity Contest from the senior class were Janet Mahan, Patricia Clemons, Charles Monroe, and Bill Crow.

Representing Manual, Joan Crow was a delegate to the U. N. in New York.

At a meeting with the governor of Indiana, a fifty-dollar cash prize was awarded to Kathleen Callon, winner of a state-wide essay contest.

wears the costume of an Indian princess, has been the Manual mascot for three years.

Lorna Nelson and Bill Oakes were elected king and queen of the bean soup eaters at the Dads Club Bean Supper.

Hatchets were buried while Tribsters honored Washington's birthday at the annual Cherry Tree Hop. Marilyn Andrews was elected "Martha" and Harry Shaner, "George."

For the first time ten outstanding juniors were awarded silver medals on Recognition Day, February 23. They were Nancy Bonewits, Wayne Brehob, Mary Calvert, Kenneth Dornfeld, Barbara Henn, Don Lindemann, Carolyn Link, Linda McMurray, Kenneth Hughes, and Kathryn Weiland.

Boosting their team's morale, cheerleaders Ann Coffman and Darlyne Dearing (kneeling) and Irene Capps and Sarah Jo Hylton (standing) appeared at eighth grade football and basketball games.

Eighth grade students found time to participate in a great many activities and contributed much to their school.

The choir, composed of thirty members under the direction of Mrs. Mary Zenor, sang Christmas selections on the program "It's Fun to Learn" on WFBM-TV.

Eighth grade Student Assembly members during the first semester were Karen Atwood, Irene Capps, Barbara Hollifield, Bernice Milish, Donna Reading, and Sandra Tinch.

For the first time eighth grade students elected class nominees for the Fiesta Popularity Contest this spring. They were Ann Coffman, Sherry Rutledge, Larry Nelis, and Larry Foster. Eighth graders' candidates for the "Doty" and "Dan" contest were Phyllis Miggenburg and Don Miller.

Seventy-eight students were graduated from the eighth grade at the end of the fall semester. Promotion exercises were held in the library and certificates were awarded by Principal C. Edgar Stahl.

In the Halls of Ivy Where We've Lived

We at Manual have learned this year to know the importance of growth in happiness and helpfulness and knowledge. We have learned that schooling is the key to growth in knowledge and that as our class work gives us information so does it help us to form habits essential for good citizenship. Through the years as Manual has stood steadfast in a divided world, we, her children, have grown toward becoming good citizens of a dream world we hope to see realized—one world, indivisible.

Many of Dame Manual's Tribe have taken steps toward a business career while others have gone on to college or other advanced training. But time after time Dame Manual's graduate children—outstanding in the ever-growing Southside community where they were reared or in broader fields of state, national, or international affairs—have continued to bring honor and recognition to the school.

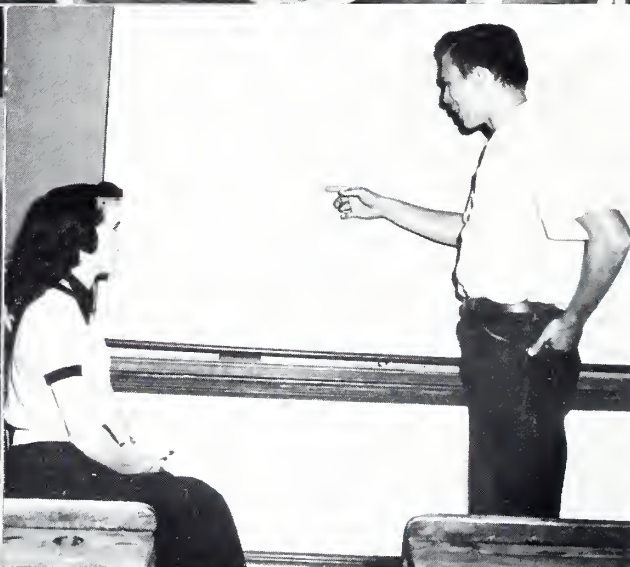

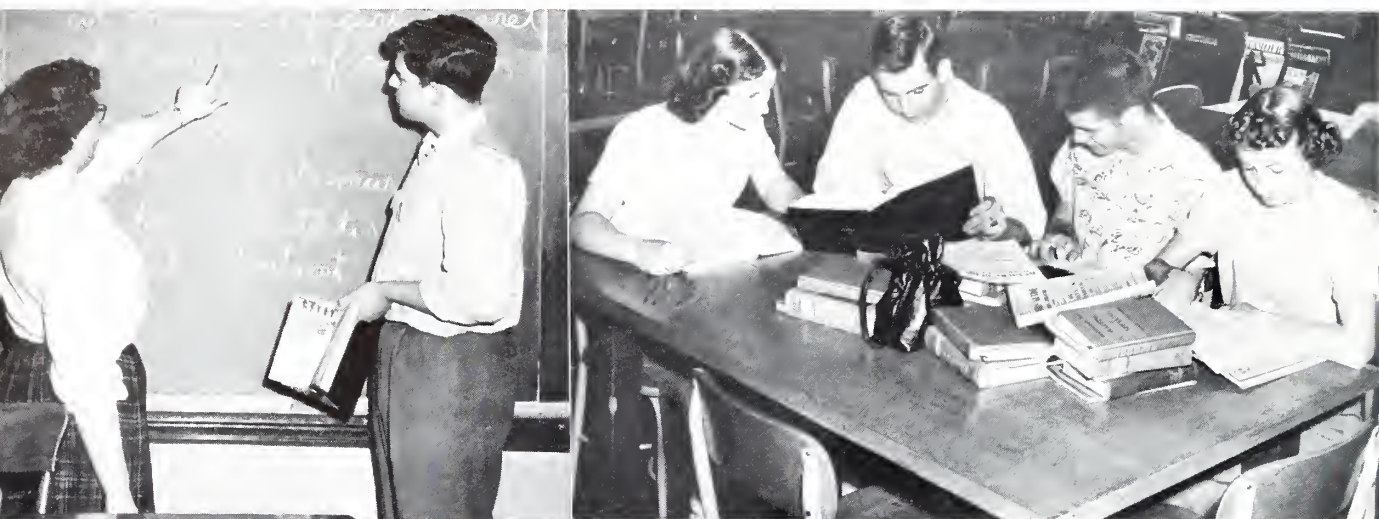

And Learned to Know

Mr. Kenneth Smartz, director of counseling, talks to Beverly Willson, one of the first seniors to take advantage of the new cadet teaching program this year.

We Have Learned How to Study

English

Learning two of the three R's, readin' and 'ritin', Manualites studied essay writing, literature, and the technicalities of grammar in English classes. Budding authors tried to win fame and fortune in essay contests. Speech students participated in radio disc jockey programs and regular high school "Junior Town Meeting" broadcasts. Spanish speaking Redskins represented Manual in the Indiana University language contests.

Social Studies

The social studies department sponsored a mock election in November before the actual presidential election (Tribe voted for Eisenhower) so students could really learn to vote. All students had to register before they could vote and some took the part of election officials. Extemporaneous Speaking Contest winners were Judy Rodman and Kathleen Callon. The social studies department taught Redskins history, government, and citizenship.

And How to Express Our Thoughts

Mathematics

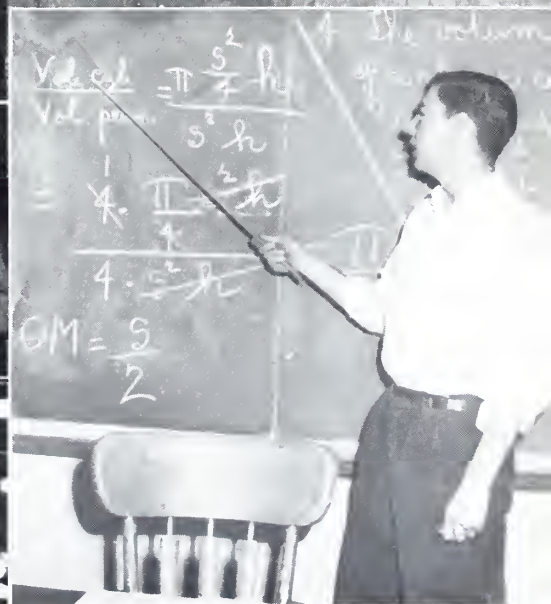

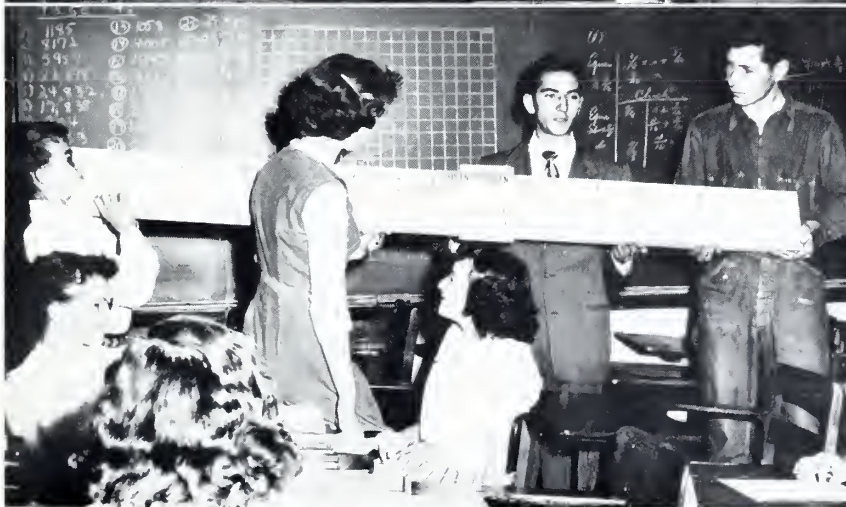

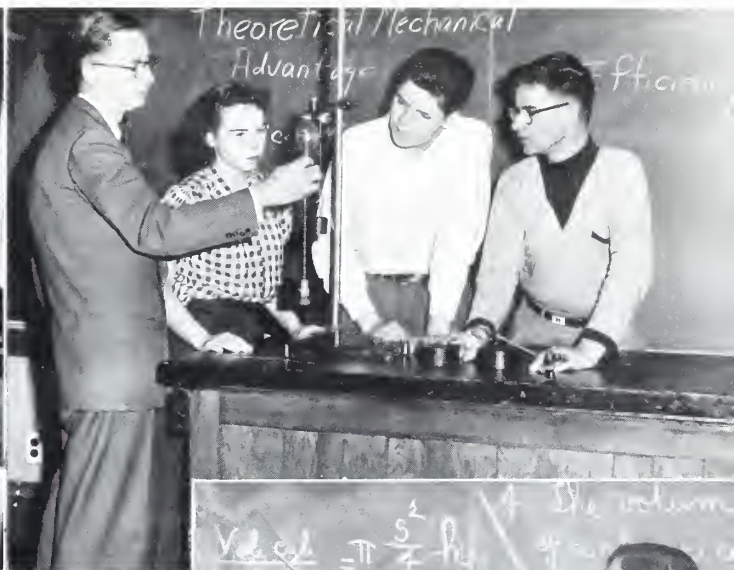

Helping Tepee Towners acquire mathematical knowledge, reliable study habits, and good thinking habits, the mathematics department offered students a four-year course which included basic and advanced algebra, plane and solid geometry, and trigonometry. A special slide rule class was established during conference period for students who felt they needed to know more about using the slide rule.

Science

Besides training students for advanced work in chemistry and physics, the science department also provided a complete program for those who did not plan to go to college. All students enrolled in science classes had the opportunity to do extended experimentation on a project which interested them. Besides becoming familiar with academic facts and study habits, students learned practical applications of science in the community.

We Have Trained for Vocations

Making mathematical computations turns into an easy job as business education students Barbara Bowles, Beverly

Business Education

Confused Tribesmen learned to be capable and responsible workers in the business education department. Members of the office training class, most advanced class of the department, learned to do all the actual work of a business office. Machine calculation students had three new electric comptometers on which to practice this year. The business education department trained students to be reliable, self-sufficient, and productive citizens.

Home Economics

School service sewing and cooking were important home economics department activities this year. Much of the work on those pretty, green Christmas tree costumes worn in the Christmas music program was done by Miss Meridith Wilson's clothing class. Mrs. Shirley Wible's and Mrs. Ruth Davee's clothing classes helped make the colorful costumes worn in "The Golden Trail." Foods classes prepared dinners for many school social and business functions.

... Found Beauty in the Arts

Music

The musical comedy, "The Golden Trail," presented by Choir and Orchestra last fall, drew a large audience. Choir and Glee Club made recordings for radio station WIBC. This was the first year the Band and Orchestra participated in state and district instrumental contests and Manual students walked away with many prizes. Through the various programs the music department served Manual and the community well.

Fine Arts

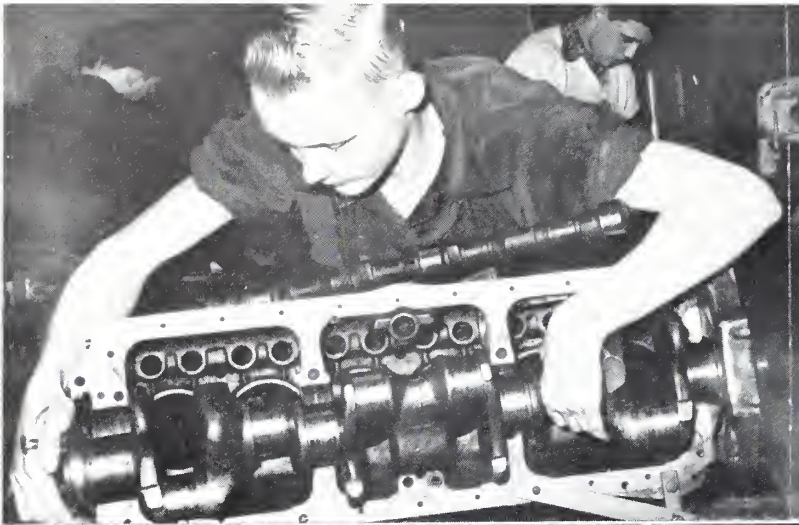

Art students were busy all year performing services for the school as well as learning art theory. The art production class made posters advertising many social activities. The jewelry class demonstrated art work at the Hobby Show; and the arts and crafts class made a model of an Indian brave to be used at pep sessions and ball games. Mr. Robert Crawford, art teacher, designed and painted scenery for "The Golden Trail."

Marvin Newland, Carol Brown, Henry Eldridge, and Harold Mueller (lower left) practice the skills they have learned.

Industrial Arts

Looking ahead, the industrial arts department prepared to move into the new Manual on Madison Avenue at Pleasant Run Boulevard. All classes made models built to scale of the rooms they would occupy in the new building. New tool cabinets were made, too. Eddie Williams, a senior, did the drawing and blueprint work for a revised course in blueprint reading. The industrial arts department gave boys the chance to become real assets to the community.

ROTC

The object of the Reserve Officers Training Corps is to give young people a better understanding of military affairs and to promote better citizenship. In accomplishing this, the ROTC taught boys how to tackle military problems. The Manual corps gained an honor rating in the 1952 federal inspection, and Manual fired against 500 other schools in the Fifth Army rifle meet. This year's enrollment, 230, was the highest in 15 years.

To Promote Better Citizenship

Physical Education

Teaching boys and girls to improve physically as well as mentally was the work of the physical education department. The goal of physical education instruction at Manual was to train students in leadership and co-operation. Wrestling was introduced this year in some of the boys' classes with the hope of developing a wrestling team in the future. The girls gave demonstrations for the open house programs and for the Fiesta.

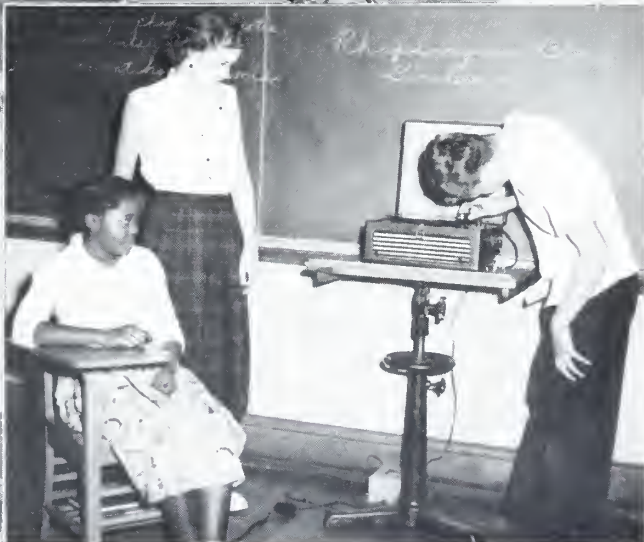

Freshman girls (top left) in Miss Elena Raglin's Physical Education I class exercise by running around the gymnasium. Eighth graders were kept busy learning all the pre-high school fundamentals. Here with the aid of a map Robert Surface, an eighth grade history student, tells a classmate, Roxie Thomas

Eighth Grade

The eighth grade, though it shared in nearly all of Manual's activities, was a school within a school. Eighth graders organized their own clubs, ball teams, and musical groups. The Manual Eighth Grade Choir and Glee Club won recognition throughout the city for their performances. Learning to live in a big high school and give up the privileges they would have had as "top man on the totem pole" in grade school was hard to do, but the papooses did the job well.

Faculty

Working in close harmony with the faculty and administration is the chief function of the office staff. Pictured here are Miss Charlotte Hafer, bookkeeper; Mrs. Violet Hauser, registrar; Mrs. Beatrice Morell, bookstore manager; Miss Alvadeen Rollins, stenographer (top row); Mrs. Mary Spiegel, secretary; and Miss Marjorie Vehling, attendance clerk (second row).

Many adults seeking further education have been assisted by Miss Helen Green and Mr. E. Edward Green, night school director. Miss Green, Manual alumna, lends her brother a helping hand with the Adult Evening School duties.

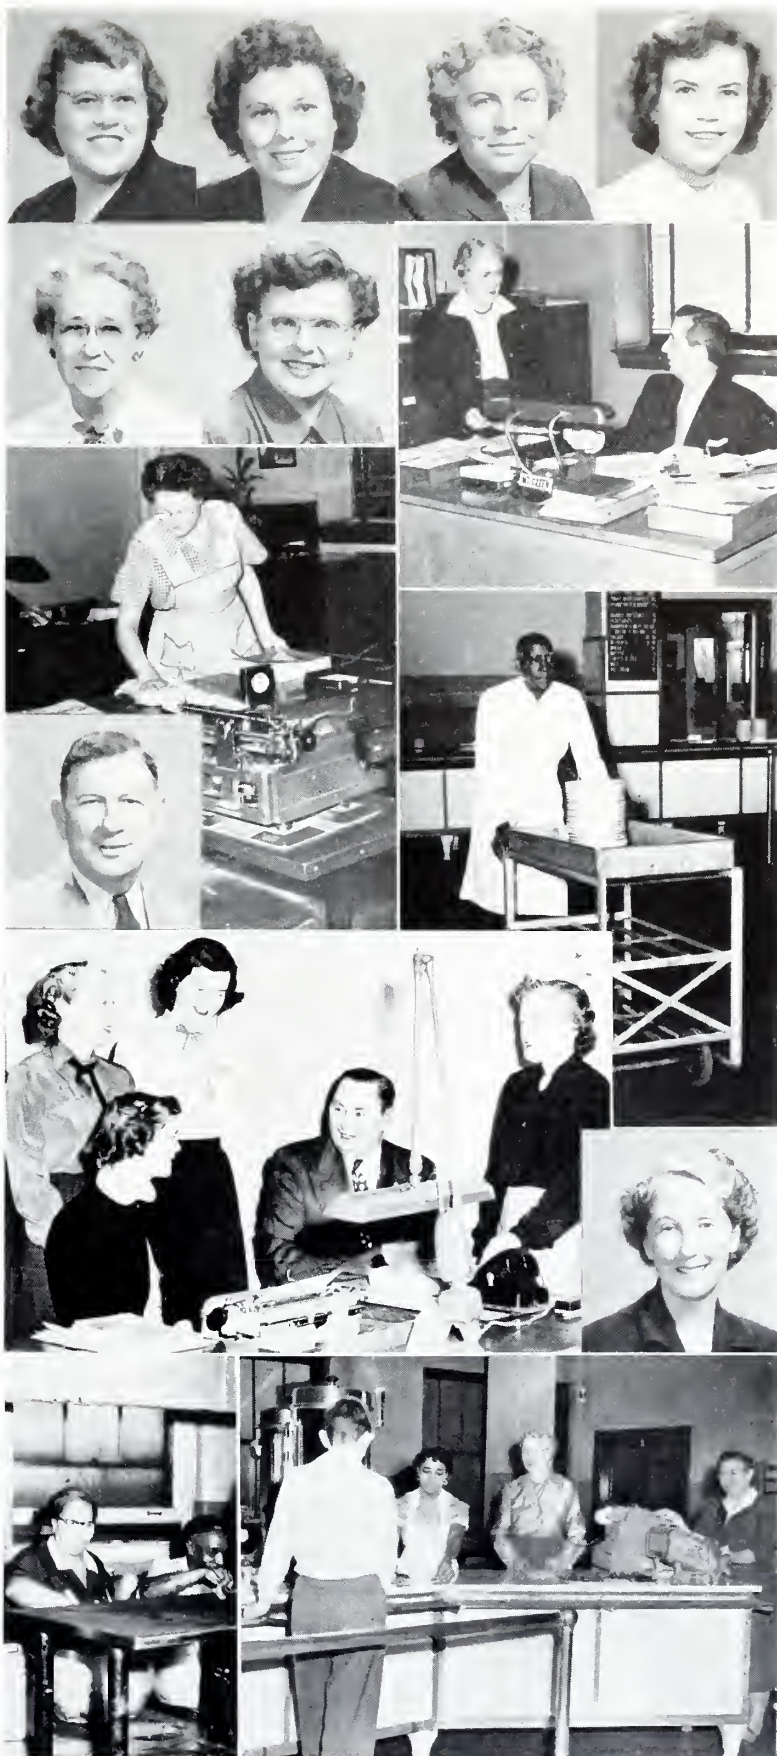

Housework for Manual is done by the crew of custodians and matrons who keep the building clean and warm. Here Mrs. Pearl Phillips prepares a desk for another day's work. Head of the crew of workers is Mr. Roy Harmon.

Those who lunch in the cafeteria have become familiar with the sight of Mr. William Strange, who assists there.

Playing an important role in the function of Manual, social service workers help students handle their problems. Pictured standing are Miss Mildred Harvey, Miss Frances Eickhoff, and Miss Margaret Casey. Seated are Norma Shimp, student assistant, and Mr. William Murphy, psychologist. Miss Mildred Harvey supervises the department's work.

Tempting odors escaping from the cafeteria each day may be at least partially credited to the cooking of Nellie Carter and Florence Thurman.

Before the meals are cooked, they are carefully planned by dietitian Miss Edith Davis. Mrs. Charlesette Wheatley, who serves ice cream and coffee, and Mrs. Marie Mennel, cashier, assist Roger Smith, student.

Teachers Learned to Know Each Other

Dame Manual's family grew faster than most when 20 new teachers moved into the Tepee last September.

These newcomers were treated to a picnic at Garfield Park to help them feel at home.

Other activities kept the faculty busy when they were away from the classroom. Many took chaperon duties at school dances and displayed their ability on the dance floor. Others sponsored clubs, worked on special projects, and helped in the production of the student Vaudeville.

All the teachers were busy with plans for their classes in the new building.

Many instructors of the old school will be sorry to leave the familiar surroundings. They will not soon forget the pleasant memories of work and fun in serving this Manual Community. The same skill and pride in good teaching shown by Dame Manual's teachers here will be carried on to their new home.

With a healthy swing, Miss Gladys Denney takes her turn at bat during a friendly game at the faculty picnic.

Miss Mary Jane Grace found the best way to Mr. and Mrs. C. Edgar Stahl's enjoyment with her homemade cake.

They ate heartily after a full day's work—that's picnickers Miss Nancy Hendricks, Miss Jacqueline Duffey, Mr. John Ciochina, and Mr. Wayne Kincaid.

A pause for refreshment and conversation was taken at the Dads Club Fish Fry by Mr. Finley Wright, Miss Elena Raglin, and Mr. Noble Poole.

Musical talents with the harmonica were displayed by Miss Jane Turner, social service worker, when classes were out in January. Miss Wilhelmina Schaffer, Miss Mary Conner and Miss Nancy Hendricks listen.

Muscles were strained by faculty members Mr. Harold Boese, Mr. James Guillaume, Mr. Donald Mason, Mr. Douglas Conrod, and Mr. Robert Crawford, while Mr. Walter Floyd offered Field Day coaching assistance from a stretcher.

Windy weather brought trouble to Miss Helen Haynes until she anchored her hat, Miss Helen Tipton is engrossed in Field Day activities.

Miss Myrtle Mize and Mr. Oran Davis waltz around again. Faculty alumni relived school days during the Ivian Campaign.

Novelty salesman, Mr. Marion Peeples, and former May Queen, Miss Garnett Foreman, told their stories.

Activities participated in by Mrs. Lucille Rose, Miss Dorothy Reinacker, and Miss Charlotte Hafer haven't changed.

Toiling students, Mr. Leonard Nolte and Mr. Otto Kuehrmann, followed their school interests when they became teachers.

Football heroes Mr. Harry Painter and Mr. Walter Floyd show how games were won in their day.

Though We Be Far Away

Much as Manual's ivy cloaks the bare red bricks in softening beauty have Manual clubs and service groups supplemented the purely academic program of the school. Not only have these clubs and organizations created school spirit inside Teepee Town, but they have helped in community and city-wide campaigns and given individuals opportunities for character and personality growth. Students who belong to these clubs develop close relationships with each other and strong loyalty to their alma mater.

Recognizing the value of these organizations to the individual and to the school, members of activity and service groups have this year, for the first time, earned points toward membership in the newly organized Manual League of Honor. Members of the League of Honor, top scholars as well as active members of the Manual Community, are Manual's "Who's Who" for the 1952-53 year.

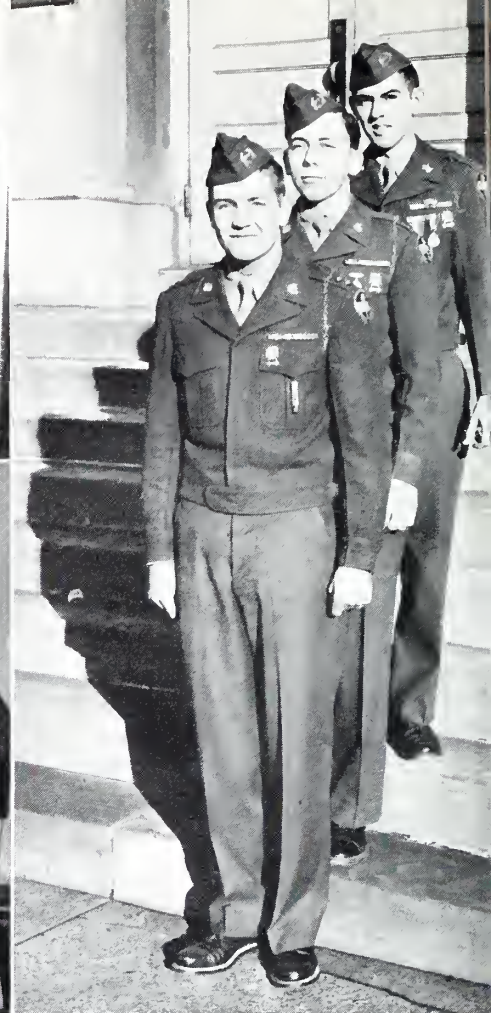

Every Heart

Will Linger Here

Presidents of senior organizations pause outside school to discuss their responsibilities. They are Harry Shaner, Roines president; Charles Monroe, Senior Class president; and Dolores Tracy, Masoma president.

We Fondly Recall the Memories

Highlights of the JUNIOR RED CROSS CLUB year were the annual drive to enroll the school in the American Junior Red Cross, the contribution of funds to the March of Dimes, and the making of articles for Camp Atterbury hospital. Club members packed 107 overseas gift boxes. Second semester officers were Kathryn Weiland, president; Suann Luessow, vice-president; Joan Crow, secretary; and Ann Solomon, treasurer.

Members of the MASK AND WIG CLUB took part in the school Christmas program and did make-up for the operetta, Vaudeville, and senior class play.

New members were initiated during the spring semester. Officers for the second semester were Lorine Short, president; Carol Stuck, vice-president; Sue Ledgerwood, secretary; and Sylvia Weber, treasurer.

OFFICERS' CLUB, composed of ROTC commissioned officers and cadet sponsors under the leadership of Sgt. 1/c Leo Chevalier, sponsored the formal Military Ball. At the dance the officers received their commissions. The club officers remained the same for both spring and fall semesters. Members of the club also took part in the ROTC rifle matches.

Of Our Extracurricular Activities

Members of the BUSINESS GIRLS' CLUB invited a guest from L. S. Ayres to speak at one of their meetings. This club's membership was composed of sophomore, junior, and senior girls enrolled in a commercial course. Officers for the spring semester were Ann Solomon, president; Beverly Siersbeck, vice-president; Winifred Giggy, secretary; and Mary Calvert, treasurer.

Santa Claus made his annual trip to the special meeting of the FHA CLUB where children from School 6 were entertained. Officers for the spring and fall semester were Marie Kingery, president; Maryellen Burkhart, vice-president; Judith Gillespie, secretary; and Winifred Giggy, treasurer.

We Remember How Our Organizations

To instruct Manualites in the use of the projectors and enable them to assist in showing movies to classes the PROJECTION CLUB was organized. Club members operated projectors for the various classes during their free periods. Jack Reid was setup foreman; Don Westrick, dispatcher; and David Link, sound foreman. Mr. Donald Hully sponsored the club.

The goal of the BOOSTER CUB CLUB members was to have their names listed on the masthead of the Booster. Many obtained this goal as full fledged reporters. Ann Coffman, club member, served as string editor during the second semester. Many members worked on the sorting of underclassman pictures and checking material for the Booster. The cubs received instruction in the principles of news-writing and the selling of advertising. Miss Ruth Allen sponsored this club.

LOS PICAROS CLUB, composed of Spanish students, wrote to pen pals in Latin America and Spain. During the fall semester the club had a wiener roast at the home of Mary Frohlinger. This club did not organize for the spring semester.

Organized for the spring semester, the LETTERMEN'S CLUB elected Harry Shaner president; David Barton, vice-president; and Bill Crow, secretary and treasurer. Membership was open to all boys who had earned a Block M. Mr. Noah Ellis sponsored this group.

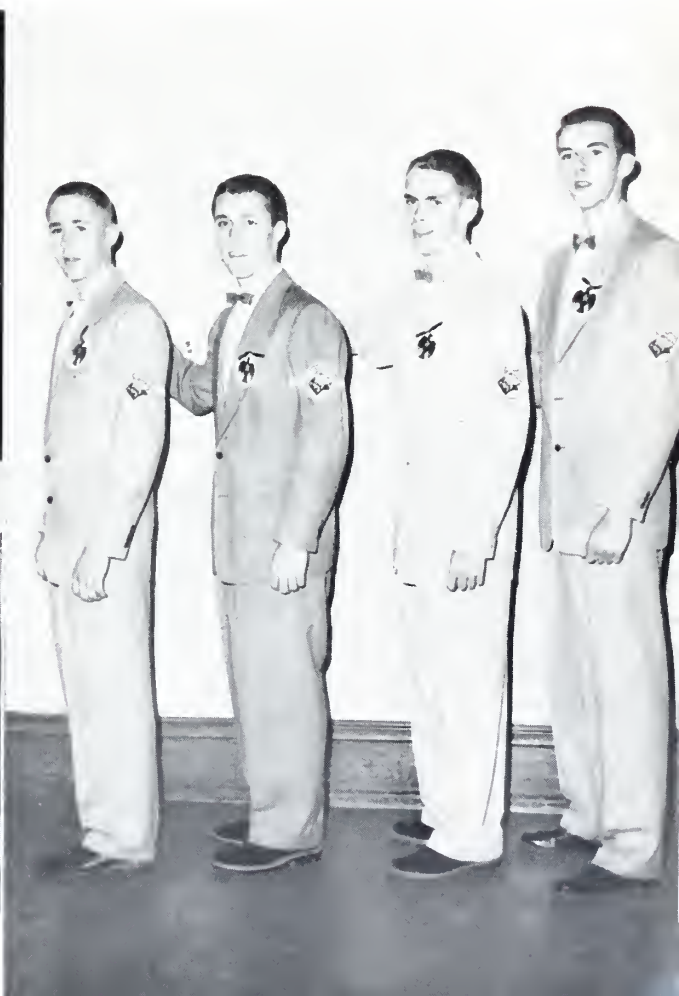

Gave Service to School, Community

The Roines Club, the honorary organization for senior boys, was founded in 1914 by Miss Arda Knox. Since that time the club has been active in aiding the school in many ways. This year, as always, the Roines Club sponsored athletic awards dinners. Harry Shaner won the Roines pin given each year to the club member who sells the most tickets to the annual Thanksgiving Eve Roines skate. Profits from this activity, sponsored by the Roines Alumni, go into the Roines Scholarship Fund. At the end of the year, the outstanding Roines boy or boys receive a scholarship from this fund. During the spring the club sponsored a formal dance for junior and senior students at Butler University's Ather-ton Center. Miss Garnett Foreman sponsors this club.

The Masoma Club, the honorary organization for senior girls, was active this year in many ways. In the fall the girls collected magazines for the patients at Central Hospital and served at the football awards dinner. Members assisted with the new freshmen in September and January. Masomas also collected money for the polio drive at the Manual-Broad Ripple basket-ball game. The Masoma Alumnae Association presents a medal at the end of the year for the senior girl who has given the most service to the school and also gives an award to the outstanding freshman girl. Miss Helen Tipton sponsors the group.

We Cherish the Hours of Fun We Had

Changing to a weekly publication this year and adding advertisement required adjustments by Booster staff members. Editors in chief during the year were Shirley Rouse, Marilyn Andrews, and Esther Scharfe.

They were assisted by Kathleen Callon as Page 2 editor; Barbara Lockhart, Page 3; Pat Tollan, advertising manager; and Bob Koepper, sports editor. Koepper also served as news bureau chief and Bonnie Barr was assistant news bureau editor. Miss Ruth Allen, a member of the English department, joined the staff this year as assistant adviser. Miss Theo Parr was photography staff adviser.

Taking an active part in local and state journalism activities has become a tradition for The Booster. Eleven publications staff members representing both the Ivian and Booster staffs attended the Sixth Annual High School Journalism Institute and won fourteen prizes last summer at Indiana University. Professor Gretchen Kemp, a former Booster adviser, is director of the institute. Staff members also attended the Indiana High School Press Association convention at Franklin College during Indiana State Teachers Association convention.

Working and Playing Always Together

Dreams of the 1953 Ivian, the last Ivian to be published from this building, began to take shape in the minds of yearbook editors last spring.

During their two-week stay at the High School Journalism Institute at Indiana University last summer, Judy Rodman, editor in chief, and Esther Scharfe, art editor, began to organize their dreams. The yearbook team took second prize for their tentative yearbook plans.

Assisting Miss Rodman and Miss Scharfe this year, Dolores Tracy was activities editor; Marilyn Andrews, senior and faculty editor; Barbara Lockhart, club editor; Kathleen Callon, classes editor; Jeanie Nichter, underclassman section editor; Margaret Steele, business manager; and Bob Koepper, sports editor. Norma Edelen and Marilyn Shimp headed the photography staff while Suann Luessow served as picture editor. Juanita Carver assisted staff members by scheduling pictures. Virginia McKhann helped Miss Scharfe with the art work. Richard Hadley took basketball pictures, while Dolores Tracy assisted Miss Theo Parr with picture taking.

New to Tepee Towners this year was Ivian Injun Joe, who showed yearbook sales progress in the cafeteria daily. The jolly-looking brave was made by Miss Gladys Denney's art production class. Sales were recorded for each home room by different colored feathers. Sporting "Ivian Agent" pins, roll room agents vied for subscriptions and prizes of sectional basketball tickets. Betty Bronson, senior class; Freda James, junior; Larry Mitchell, sophomore; Nancy Kleis, freshman; and Leslie Wilson, eighth grade, were the individual class salesmen who won the tickets.

Played Band, Orchestra Instruments

The main activity of the Choir this year was the presentation of the operetta "The Golden Trail" during the fall semester. The Choir also sang for the school's Lincoln Day program. Under the direction of Mrs. Edith Binkley the Choir sang in the Marion County Choral Festival held in March.

The Glee Club acted as Manual's unofficial ambassador to various schools and organizations during the year. It represented Manual in the all-city high school Christmas program presented on the Circle, and provided the music for the school's Christmas program. The club also presented an act in the Vaudeville. Miss Freda Hart heads this group.

Members of the Orchestra and Band won recognition in the state music contest held at Butler University. A saxophone quartet composed of Ronald Chastain, Clifford Perry, Carl Hager, and Bill Breedlove placed in the first division of the state contest. A bassoon solo by Larry Mitchell placed in the second division, as did a string trio composed of Nancy Foster, Kathleen McCormick, and Deloris Fox. Nancy Foster, who played a violin solo, and a drum ensemble composed of Ed Clark, Dave Englert, Jack Hess, Tom Whitney, and Larry Baker placed in the third division. The Orchestra, under the direction of Miss Roberta Trent, played for the operetta. Mr. E. L. Brittan directed the Band. The Dance Band, under the direction of Mr. William Breedlove, played at many school dances.

Participants in pre-game ceremonies of the first Football Jamboree are Judie Pederson, Janice Farley, Joyce Mills, Joy Seiler, and Norma Payne, cheerleaders; Joan Crow, mascot; and Janet Mahan, Manual Jamboree Queen.

Though We Must Depart . . .

Through the years we'll remember our heroes of the Block M's—our valiant Tribesmen who scalped many an adversary on their 1952-53 warpath. We'll remember that long run down the gridiron . . . that basket that broke the tie almost as the gun sounded . . . that home run that put Manual ahead. From eighth graders to seniors, Manualites have had the opportunity to take part in athletics. Careful planning and cooperation have helped Tribesters to win many contests. A new attraction in the sports program this year was the Football Jamboree, where city teams tangled in one-quarter tilts as an opener for the high school football season.

Thru the Years

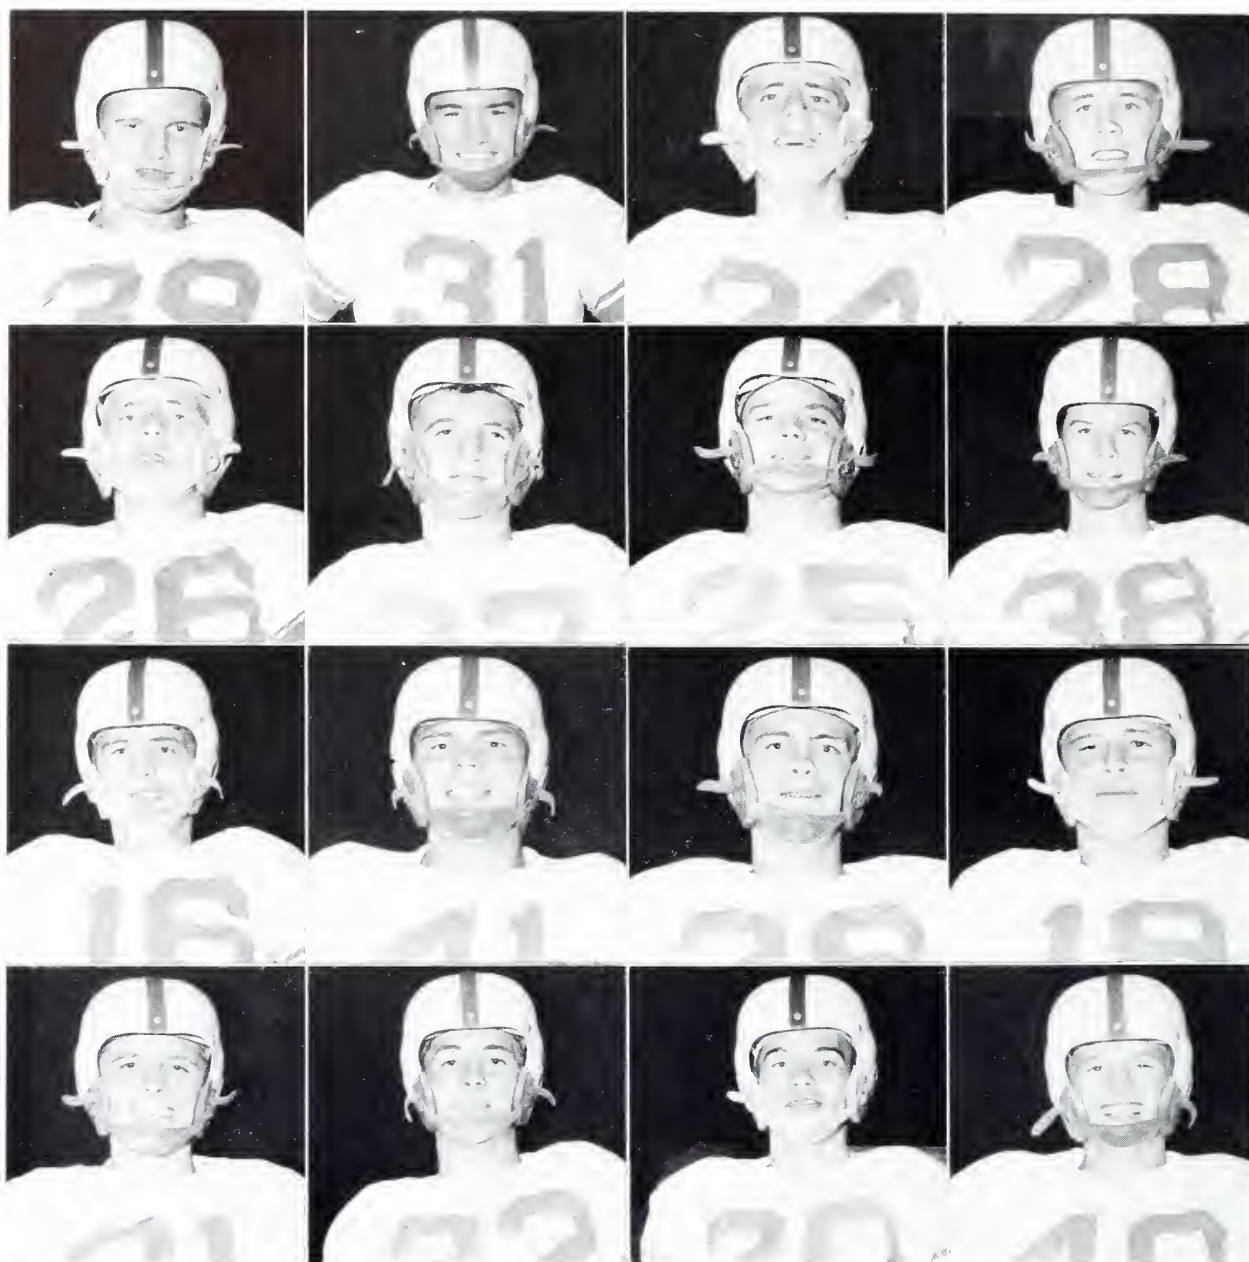

We'll See You

The Manual football Tribe ended its '52 season with three wins, one tie, and five losses. The gridmen climaxed the season by stopping a 27-year jinx held over Manual by Shortridge. Tribesmen topped the Blue Devils 21-7 in the season closer. After tying Crispus Attucks in the first game, 6-6, and bowing 6-0 to Sacred Heart, Manual seemed to follow a pattern of winning one and losing two. In the third game Manual topped Washington, 7-6, but then lost to Howe, 20-7, and Noblesville, 7-0. The Tribe scalped Southport, 19-7, only to bow to Ben Davis, 13-7, and Broad Ripple, 20-14.

Our Team Goes Out to Play

With Faith and Courage...

The varsity season totals tell the tale of many close games. The opposing teams scored only 13 more points than did the Redskins, with the opponents' tallies adding up to 94 against Manual's 81.

Harry Shaner, senior and quarterback of the 1952 varsity football squad, was awarded the Gilbert Mordoh Award as the most valuable player of the 1952 grid team. Votes cast by the team, athletic director, head football coach, and Booster staff elected Shaner the most valuable player. Football awards were given at the annual football awards dinner sponsored by the active Roines Club.

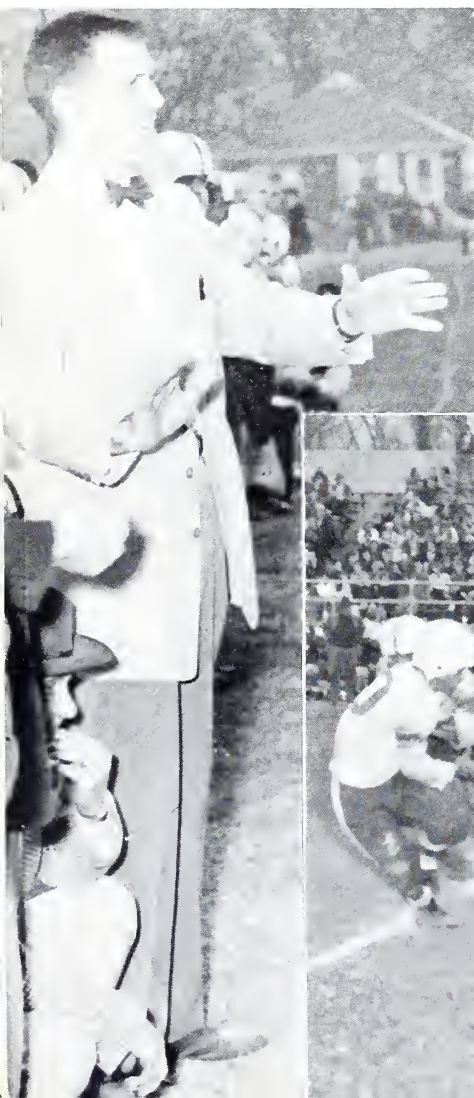

Members of the varsity grid team who received gold footballs were Don Andrews, Jack Miller, Bill Oakes, Stanley Sandler, and Charles Taylor. Here is a season rundown on Manual's scoring and who did it.

Coach Noah Ellis seems happy as he watches a play from the Manual-Shortridge encounter. At upper right Bob Ashmore (22) watches as Shortridge players pile on an unidentified Redskin who has just picked up a few yards. At lower right two Manual players start a fast run around right end in an attempt to pick up a few more yards of pay dirt.

We'll Win the Game Today

Handing the Manual reserves their first of three defeats, Washington downed the Tribe B-men 13-2. Later Southport and Broad Ripple won reserve tilts, 19-0 and 7-0, respectively.

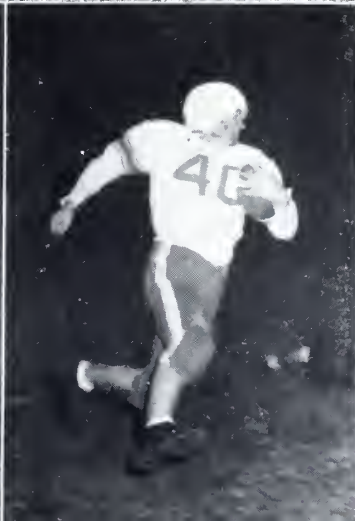

The freshman team won all eight scheduled games, allowing only three opponents to score. Manual victories were over Washington, 18-0; Southport, 12-7; Warren Central, 12-6; Sacred Heart, 19-0; and Broad Ripple, 9-0. Ronal Price was leading scorer for the freshmen with 57 points. Next in line were Joe Caruso with a total of 46 points and Carl Short with 25 points. Chuck Roberts was behind Short with a total of 24 points.

With a 4-1 record the eighth grade football team finished the '52 season by defeating School 1, 28-0. Coached by Mr. Walter Floyd, Mr. Howard Thrall, and Mr. Donald Mason, the junior papooses also handed defeats to School 70, 32-0; Tech, 33-7; and School 84, 33-7. Crispus Attucks defeated the Manual eighth graders, 12-7. Larry Bennie led the eighth graders with 37 points, while Junior Gray followed with 34 points. Other scorers of the season were Leslie Wilson, 31 points; Larry Foster, 28 points; Garry Root, 6 points; and Ralph O'Haver, 6 points.

We Play the Orange, Green, and Blue

Basketball fans at Manual High School got their share of thrills during the 1952-53 season from the first game of the season right down to the final game in the sectionals.

The Manual squad opened against the Irish of Cathedral with an overtime loss of two points, 59 to 57. The next encounter, with Lawrence Central, also went into an overtime period, but the Tribe came out the victor, 50 to 47. Warren Central fell in the next Manual game, 56 to 52.

The Tribe lost two games, to Sacred Heart, 61 to 34, and Ben Davis, 71 to 68, before starting out on a five-game winning streak, downing Deaf School, 53 to 51; Howe, 57 to 54; Charlottesville, 63 to 40; Speedway, 53 to 47; and Plainfield, 62 to 57. In a four-way tournament at Cathedral, January 3, Manual lost two games, to St. Mary's of Anderson and Sacred Heart.

The next encounters saw the Macmen drop three in a row, the Tribe losing to Tech, 53 to 28; Washington, 79 to 60; and Shortridge, 51 to 37. The Beech Grove Hornets fell to Manual next, 52 to 43, before the Tribe bowed to Broad Ripple, 51 to 46. The long trip to Danville, Illinois, failed to daunt the Redskins as they beat the Maroon and White, 54 to 51. Crispus Attucks and Southport defeated the Tribe in the last two games of the season, 50 to 75 and 83 to 52, respectively.

In the last game of the year the Manual Redskins almost downed the Washington Continentals in the Sectional Tournament. The Tribe's hold-out game came close to beating Washington before the Westside team could grab a 37 to 32 win.

To Red and White We're Always True

During the first part of the Manual basketball season the varsity squad was coached by Mr. Raymond Ashley in place of the regular coach, Mr. Russell McConnell, who spent several weeks in the hospital as the result of an automobile accident. Mr. Noah Ellis coached the reserve squad while Mr. Ashley was with the varsity.

Four varsity players saw their last high school games during the 1952-53 season. Seniors Harry Shaner, Bill Crow, Walter Clark, and Urban Oskins will not be back for Manual next year.

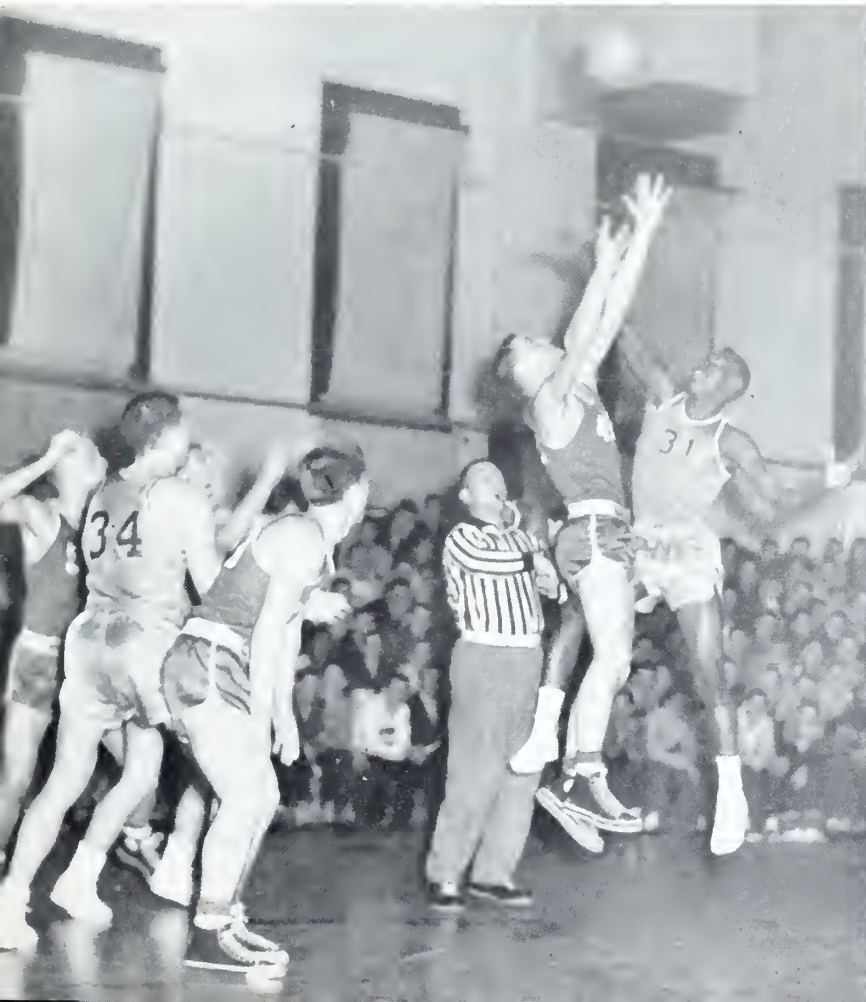

Two members of the reserve squad joined the varsity team late in the season to see action in several of Manual's games. These two players were Marshall Hurley and Don Crow. Although they came up to the varsity late, Crow was able to sink 49 points for the varsity while Hurley put through 48 for the Macmen.

Phil Willsey won the coveted free throw award with an average for the season of .663, having made 63 of 95 free throw attempts.

Basketball fans can look at the scores of the season and see that the Redskins provided a lot of thrills for the crowds. As the records show, Manual lost two that could have gone either way, the Cathedral and Ben Davis games. Other close games that Manual won were the Lawrence Central, Warren Central, Deaf School, Howe, and Danville tilts.

Among the thrills next year will be that of fifteen home games in new quarters, with a varsity squad boasting five returning lettermen.

In Loyalty We Strive to Gain . . .

The reserve team did the older Tribesmen one better by winning 10 games during the past season. The final count on the reserve's record was 10 to 9.

The junior Redskins defeated Lawrence Central, Sacred Heart, Deaf School, Charlottesville, Speedway, Plainfield, Washington, Beech Grove, Crispus Attucks, and Bloomington.

The B-team was not so lucky on the other nine encounters. Losses were suffered to Cathedral, Warren Central, Ben Davis, Howe, Shortridge, Broad Ripple, Southport, Columbus, and Danville, Illinois.

Ronnie Mescall was the high scoring man for the reserves with a total of 178 points for the season. Mescall also had a free throw record of 54 hits out of 82 tries to hold a percentage of .659, barely short of Wilsey's winning percentage.

The Papooses of Tepee Town, the Manual freshman squad, ended the 1952-53 season with eight wins and nine losses. The freshmen had a percentage of .400 on the 17 game schedule.

Among their wins were Shortridge, Franklin Township, Warren Central, and Center Grove, won in a forfeit. The freshmen beat both Sacred Heart and Westfield twice.

Manual's squad scored a total of 474 points, 73 under the number scored by the opposition. The youngest of the Manual net squads, the eighth graders, held down a record of 9-1. The graders topped schools 82, 18, 34, 31, 63, and 44. Manual played the Tech and Attucks graders twice, winning both games from Tech but picking up their one loss from the Tigers. The eighth graders' leading scorer was Larry Bennie, with 74 points for the season.

Manual Comes Down the Field

Although the Manual 1952 track squad won only two of its five scheduled meets, the trackmen won a number of places in other encounters. Manual was also proud to have two representatives at the sectionals, regionals, and state finals. Last year the cindermen topped Crispus Attucks and won a triangular meet from Franklin Township and Beech Grove. They lost meets to Deaf School, Lawrence Central, and Howe and Warren Central in another triangular meet.

In the city meet at Tech April 25 Manual tied for seventh. At the Marion Relays the Redskins ran off with second and third places while they netted a twelfth at the Tech invitational meet. Two of Manual's trackmen qualified for the track tournaments. Dick Nyers and Bill Williams not only were eligible for the sectionals but went on to score in the regionals and finals. Mr. Raymond Ashley coached last year but was replaced for the '53 season by Mr. Raymond Van Arsdale, who returned after a year's absence as mentor.

Charles Monroe (upper left) leaps over the low hurdles in the 1952 city meet at Tech. Track queens (bottom) represented the schools participating in the city meet last spring. Janice Farley was Manual's track queen.

With Victory in Sight

The 1953 baseball squad was off to its usual early start this spring, beginning practice long before the actual season started.

The early season coaching was handled by Mr. Russell McConnell and Mr. Howard Thrall. Regular baseball coach Walter Floyd did not take over mentoring duties until after spring vacation because of illness.

Members of the '52 baseball squad who returned for the '53 season were Gerald Clancy, second base; Bob Barnhart, third base; Phil Willsey, third base; Don Crow, pitcher; Tom Stevason, shortstop; Don Durrett, center field; Don Andrews, right field; Allen Hazen, center field; and Charles Taylor, left field.

Members of the 1952 reserve squad who returned to play ball this year were David Liggett, catcher;

We March with Colors Flying

Though boys at Manual work out for interschool sports, girls are not to be outdone. They are in the gymnasium playing such games as volleyball, basketball, badminton, and ping pong. When spring weather comes along, the girls don their jeans or shorts and hike to the playground at School 6 to play baseball. In the fall girls who enjoy tennis play on the courts at Garfield Park under the direction of Miss Elena Raglin.

Miss Theo Parr, who sponsors Manual girls' bowling at the Fountain Square Bowling Alleys, was proud to announce that three of the girls on Manual's bowl-

During the second semester some of the physical education classes were given helpful hints from Ken Davidson, international badminton star. He was assisted by Mrs. Betty Mathews, women's state badminton champion. Shirley Burks, Marilyn Turley, Pat Borrer, and Esther Scharfe, seniors, were his "students" for the demonstration.

Marie Schrader and Ann Solomon placed fortieth in the doubles and Winifred Giggy placed sixty-first in the singles.

We Cheer in Every Fight

Cheerleaders urging the Manual tribe on to victory are Joyce Mills, Joy Seiler, and Judie Pedersen (kneeling), Norma Payne and Janice Farley (standing).

To support all athletic events and to help develop school spirit in the student body has been the purpose of Manual's four cheerleading squads this year.

During the fall semester Janice Farley, Norma Payne, Judie Pedersen, Joy Seiler, and Joyce Mills cheered varsity football team members to victory. Marshia Clark and Jean Sommers joined the squad later to fill the places of Miss Payne and Miss Mills.

Reserve cheerleaders were Rose Hough, Barbara Brown, Carol Payne, and Lou Ellen Crow, while Norma Prather, Jane Clark, Carol Wayman, and Carolyn Solomon were freshman cheerleaders. Newest of the cheerleading squads was the eighth grade team, composed of Vernajayne Metz, Wynona Carver, Ann Coffman, and Sarah Jo Hylton, who served for the first semester. In the second semester Darlyne Dearing and Irene Capps took the places of Miss Metz and Miss Carver, then freshmen.

Senior Joan Crow served her third year as Manual's mascot. Miss Crow's costume, an original Indian princess' gown, received many "ohs" and "ahs" from the opponents' side at basketball games. Miss Crow and varsity cheerleader members joined together in pre-game ceremonies to do Indian war chants.

A mascot from an unidentified Indian tribe was added to the cheering squad for the sectionals. Made a year ago by Mr. James Guillaume's arts and crafts class, the mascot sported a colorful red costume including a Block M sweater. This modest mascot with an Indian look left Tepee Town soon after Manual's defeat in the sectionals and stated he would not return until sectional time next year. Wonder if anyone told him Manual's new address?
